A note from your president, Jarrar Khan

Welcome to Glasgow Medical School!

First of all, well done! Forget about that bloody UCAT, those pesky past papers and all those silly interviews. You smashed it out of the park and now it's time for you to work hard and play even harder – and this is where we come in...

MedChir has been kicking around since 1802, making it one of the oldest societies in Scotland. Over those years MedChir has consistently hosted educational events, social events and made sure nobody goes thirsty on Thursdays.

This year we're kicking things off with a Holy Trinity of events to give you a proper Glaswegian welcome. First up is Welcome Night, for Freshers to get to know each other over some free pints. This is being followed by our Ceilidh so you can throw each other about, meet people in other years, and, if you're not Scottish and have no idea what a Ceilidh is, come along and find out. And finally, Medic Families – a night to meet your medic parents, grandparents, uncles and aunties and let them teach you the ways of MedChir.

There are so many more events to look forward to; getting dressed up for the incredible MedChir Ball or putting your lab coats to good use for the infamous Scrubby – a sub crawl like no other. There are plenty of events to keep you entertained and one that you ought to know of is the Scottish and Northern Irish Medics Sports Tournament – AKA – SNIMS.

Imagine collecting 1500 Medics in a city in Scotland for a 'sports day' sandwiched between two nights out? Chaotically incredible right? Well, lucky you, because this year that city is Glasgow and it's a weekend you would be sorry to miss.

We have plenty of events planned this year. We want you to look back one day when you are a shit hot doctor and appreciate that some of the best years of your life weren't just spent in the library!

We can't to meet you all in September, maybe in the Library – probably in Beer Bar.

Did I mention free pints?
