NOTE FROM THE EDITOR IN CHIEF

It's Surgo, but not like you have known it before

Hello Freshers and welcome everyone to Surgo 23/24! Maybe you have heard of Surgo before, maybe you haven't, but it doesn't matter because this year we are putting Surgo on the MAP. Thanks to the help of last years' committee and Prof. Cindy Chew we now have Surgo attached to an ISBN number, meaning that Surgo articles count as official publications (points for the CV, absolutely!).

I hope that Surgo becomes a place that we can share social events, elective stories, posters from research projects, interesting interviews and a continuous alumni column. I am so very excited about this new and improved Surgo and everything that we will achieve this coming year!

Anna Bradford, Surgo Editor in Chief 23-24.

We need you

We want to feature YOUR work in future issues of Surgo. Please email project posters and elective stories to surgo\_uofg@yahoo.com

We are also starting a "letter to the editor" segment. Is there something you like or dislike in this issue? An idea you want to share with the world? Let us know and we will get back to you next time!
